The program will consist of presentations by six individuals that will explain the various aspects of pension funds and a nine-person discussion panel afterwards that will address questions from the audience. Speakers include Laurens Keessen of Keessen Actuaries on "Pensions in Practice," Martin Eekhof of KPMG tax and Legal Services will speak about "Pensions versus Insurance," and Madel Jacopucci of Fatum will discuss "Women and Pensions." After an intermission, Hans Ruiters of PricewaterhouseCoopers will discuss "Tax Benefits and regulations of Pensions in Aruba," and Rolando van der Linde of the Dr. Horacio E. Oduber Hospital will present "Preparing to live on a fixed income Pension." The final presentation will be "Balancing your time is the first Duty in Life" by Ramis Kolfin of Kolfin Leadership Training Program.

After the presentations, Anselmo Pontilius, Director of the FTA, Edwin Roos, Marion Agunbero, and Martin Eekhof will join the other speakers for a discussion panel moderated by Shirley Angela-Eisden. The topic for debate will be the responsibility of individuals regarding providing for their retirement. The program will begin promptly at 2:00 PM and should finish at 5:00 PM with a cocktail reception following until 7:00 PM.

Members of the Fatum staff joined Mr. Fränkel in presenting the program, including Madel Jacopucci, who will represent Fatum on the discussion panel. They feel that at this time everyone from the age of twenty-five must seriously consider providing a comfortable retirement fund, as the public pension (social security) payments cannot possibly keep up with inflation and cost of living increases.
